

SPECIAL RECOGNITION: DETAILING COMPANIES OF STEEL AWARDS 2011

There is no doubt that the role of the detailer in the structural steel food chain is a critical one. He not only interprets the engineer's design requirements and converts them into work shop instructions but quite often is a major contributor to the 'buildability' of an engineer's design.

He certainly plays that most important communication link between the design engineer and the workshop that actually makes the structure and erector team that puts it up.

And even though the SAISC is so aware of the important role they play, due to one of those 'Murphy' moments the Steel Awards 2011 Issue of Steel Construction omitted to list the detailing companies in the project teams of the winners and entries of Steel Awards 2011. Steel Construction sincerely apologises for this omission and hope that this special mention gives them the recognition they deserve.
